MIND WAS BLANK FOR MANY HOURS

G. H. Graves of Near Bloomington, Illinois, "Came to" Here, After Suffering Lapse of Memory.

LEFT HIS HOME SATURDAY

Intended Spending Easter With Relatives in Bloomington—Told His Strange Story to Police.

Leaving his home near Bloomington, Ill., Saturday afternoon and coming to this city without the slightest idea of where he was or the details of the trip, was the strange experience of a man giving his name to Chief McAllister as G. H. Graves, age 60 years. The case was one of the most peculiar ever brought to the attention of the local police and is not without a pathetic side.

Chief McAllister was called to the traction station Sunday morning shortly after ten o'clock and found Graves. He was crying like a child and declared that he was lost. McAllister offered to help him and Graves told him his story. He said he left his home south of Bloomington, intending to spend Sunday with relatives there. He did not remember a thing that occurred from the time he left home until he started into one of the churches here yesterday morning. As he entered the church he suddenly realized that he was in a strange place and inquired as to the name of the city.

Graves left the church, going to the traction station, where he attracted attention by his strange actions. He could not account for the lapse of memory only to the fact that he had been taking medicine for catarrh and remembered taking some before leaving home. Graves stated he also remembered becoming dizzy. Just how or why he happened to come here is unexplainable. He did not remember coming through Indianapolis.

Graves was well dressed and stated that he was not a drinking man. Chief McAllister stated that he did not have the appearance of a man just getting over a drunk and had every reason to believe he was telling the truth. He stated that his nephew was the chief of police in Bloomington and was serving his second term.

McAllister took him to the C. H. & D. depot where Graves bought a ticket for Bloomington. Graves had plenty of money and paid for the ticket out of a $20 bill. He was very grateful to Chief McAllister for helping him get straightened out and promised to remember him when he reached home. The police say it is a wonder the man was not robbed.

For fear he had not entirely recovered and might meet with an accident in Indianapolis Graves was put in care of the conductor on the train out of here, who promised to see him safely on the train bound for Bloomington.

TWO HIGHWAY PETITIONS

Rushville Township Residents Ask Commissioners For Improvements

Two petitions for the improvement of highways in Rushville township have been placed on file in the county auditor's office and will be presented to the county board of commissioners at their regular May meeting. One is known as the Melvin Moor et al petition and the other as the D. H. Dean et al highway. The petition asks for the improvement of a road south of the city, and the latter for the improvement of a road west of the city.

MRS. EDMUND GARTIN DEAD

Passed Away Sunday Morning After a Long Illness.

Mrs. Nellie Gartin, 28 years old, wife of Edmund Gartin, died Sunday morning at her home in North Main street after a long illness with a complication of diseases. Besides her husband she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Amanda Kiplinger, and one brother, John Kiplinger. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the late residence conducted by the Rev. Cyrus Yocum. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

GARDENING ALL THE "RAGE" NOW

Householders Are Busy Planning For Their "Patch" to Supply Delicious Food For Hot Days.

THE SEASON IS VERY LATE

The warm weather of the past few days has started garden making here in earnest. Many people who naturally start their gardens as early as the first robin chirps his initial chirp have been delayed this year and will have a late start.

Some people insist on planting potatoes on St. Patrick's day, but it is safe to say no potatoes were planted here on St. Patrick's day. In addition to being Sunday the weather was not propitious for potato planting about that time. Several people planted potatoes last Friday as that was Good Friday, and the time was held by them to be a lucky day. This day was selected by many, also to plant sweet peas.

Numerous city gardeners have their beds of radishes, lettuce and onions in, and those who are figuring on larger gardens have either their ground broken and the seed in or will attend to this work next week.

TRUSTY OLD GUN TAKEN FROM SHELF

Newton Martin Alleged to Have Threatened Lives of Entire Neighborhood While Intoxicated.

WILL BE TRIED TUESDAY

The police were called to the home of Newton Martin, 802 North Arthur street yesterday shortly before noon where, it is stated, Martin "was about to shoot up the place." Martin, while under the influence of liquor, is alleged to have threatened the lives of all in the neighborhood and run his wife from the house at the point of a revolver.

It is stated that he "cleaned up" the Foulton grocery store in Tenth street and chased everyone out of the place with the same revolver that scared his wife. When the police arrived they found him at home resting easy but in a very bad humor. He was taken to jail with the aid of the handcuffs. Martin was slated on a charge of public intoxication and it is likely one for carrying deadly weapons will be filed. He was released on $50 bond and will be tried Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Rush Council No. 41 R. & S. M. will hold their regular stated meeting tonight, followed by degree work. A large attendance is desired.

SWAMPED WITH ROUTINE WORK

County Superintendent Says he Must Have Assistant to Examine Manuscripts in Time.

COMMISSIONERS REFUSE HIM

New Law Provides County Shall Pay Helper—Eighth Year Examination Dates.

The time for the annual educational day exercises in this city, at which time all of the eighth year graduates of the county schools receive their diplomas, is very indefinite, according to C. M. George, county superintendent, who says that the date will not likely be set for some time unless he is allowed to employ an assistant in his office, so that all of the manuscripts of the eighth year pupils may be examined.

The county superintendent has petitioned the county board of commissioners for money to employ an assistant, he says, because he can not do all of the work incumbent on him at this busy season. The commissioners refuse to authorize the county council to make an appropriation for this purpose, Mr. George declares, because the board felt that he could do all of the work. The county superintendent declares the usual school program for spring will be delayed unless the commissioners heed his plea and allow him some money to pay for a helper. The county council will be called this month and may give Superintendent George relief.

According to the county superintendent, the county superintendents for the last ten years have always needed assistance at this season of the year because of the additional duties on account of examinations for pupils and teachers' license. Up until last year, Mr. George says, the county superintendent has always been compelled to pay a helper out of his own salary. The legislature passed a law making it incumbent on the county to pay for all assistants in the county superintendent's office. The county superintendent argues that if there is a need for an assistant, and he believes that there is just now, the county should pay for it because the law makes it mandatory. The decision is left to the superintendent as to whether or not he needs a helper. Last year Mr. George says, he was allowed an assistant at this season of the year, and the county paid the bill.

Superintendent George declares that the work this spring is heavier than usual because of the extremely large number of applicants who have taken the examination for teacher's license. This coupled with the usual number of eighth grade manuscripts makes the county superintendent's duties very hard.

Heretofore eighth year pupils who failed in one or two studies in the first examination have been allowed to write on the same subjects again on the third Saturday in May. The county superintendent estimates that it will not be possible to give the pupils this second opportunity to make passing grades unless he has an assistant, because he declares he can't have all of the papers graded by that time. For the same reason educational day will probably be later than usual, he says.

Eight year examinations will be held in the following townships Saturday, April 20th, Washington at Raleigh; Center at Mays; Anderson at Milroy, Jackson at Osborne school house, Rushville in Jersey City school house, Ripley at Carthage, Posey at Arlington, Richland at Richland and Walker at Homer. The examinations in the other townships were held in March.

SPRING HERE; NO WATER YET

Council Orders That City Supply Not be Used For Sprinkling This Summer.

TO BE THE SAME AS LAST YEAR

City Treasurer Hears Complaints From Patrons When They Pay Rent—Some Want Rebate.

The inevitable has happened. The city council has ordered that three shall be no sprinkling in Rushville this summer. That same condition prevailed in Rushville last summer but it was hoped by most patrons of the municipal water and light plant that some time during the winter the city council would arrange for a water supply that would be a water supply.

The order of the council applies not only sprinkling. It is mandatory in that it states water from the city mains shall be used for no purposes other than domestic and bath room uses—of course, the water will be used in the latter instance only where it is possible.

This order means that no housewife will be allowed to scrub her front porch with the city water. Of course some of them may resort to stealth and cunning, as they did last summer, and scrub their porches under the cover of darkness.

The order means, also, that no proud householder can water his garden which he is now beginning and which he will so carefully tend and watch over until the hot months of drouth begin. The housewife who takes pride in her beautiful flowers can not supply their wants from the city mains. She will have to move on some friendly neighbor's well—that is if she is fortunate to have a neighbor with a well.

City Treasurer Gurney Cohee is up against it. He is the man who hears all the complaints about the lack of water. Patrons kick because they have no water and kick because they are asked to pay the regular price, in advance, for water and then do not get a return for what they pay as compared with what they once got.

Last spring water patrons paid for water in advance. Any number of them paid for sprinkling purposes, also, and were not allowed to sprinkle the latter half of the summer. Now any number of them are refusing to pay in advance for sprinkling purposes and many others want a rebate for the water that they paid for and didn't get last summer.

The city treasurer has told the city council that his motto will be to get all he can get out of each patron. The city treasurer will not likely ask patrons to pay for sprinkling water in advance since the council has ordered that the water not be used for that purpose this summer.

The council has been looking for water for about a year now, and it has one well that will help out a little in a pinch, but it is not calculated to be of enough force to overflow the bath tubs up on the hill where the pressure has been weak even during the winter. The well will not be attached to the mains, it is said, only as a sort of a supply well, as it were.

The prospects are that the city will go on and on without any water. It is not very agreeable to people who have a bath tub and can't use it in warm weather. Nor is it agreeable to people who depend on city water for all purposes, and then come to find that they can't use it for much of anything. The price just the same, whatever amount of water you get.

The people on the hill are the ones who suffered most last summer and who feel the brunt of the lack of water supply this summer. There have not been many days for a year or more that people in the higher part of the city with a bath tub upstairs could get any water into it.

It is supposed the same orders as those of last summer will be continued. At that time any water patron violating the council's orders was liable to get up some fine morning and find their water shut off. It is undecided whether or not the city will have inspectors this summer as they did last.

DEATH DUE TO PARALYSIS

Mrs. Joseph Litteral Dead After Long Illness.

The funeral services of Mrs. Joseph Litteral who died late Saturday afternoon at her home in West Seventh street, were held this afternoon at the late residence, conducted by the Rev. C. M. Yocum. Burial took place in East Hill cemetery. Mrs. Litteral had been ill a long time suffering from paralysis. She was fifty-two years old. Besides a husband she leaves three children, Mrs. Bertha Casey, Mrs. Clarence Dillon of Piqua, Ohio, and Chase Litteral.

WOULD HAVE MAYOR HELP IN EMERGENCY

American Civic Alliance Requests B. A. Black to Appoint Committee to Assist in Crisis.

PRECIPITATED BY COAL STRIKE

Mayor B. A. Black has received a communication from a committee from the American Civic Alliance, which reads as follows:

In view of the failure of the coal mine owners and the mine workers to come to any mutually satisfactory agreement as to the terms on which they may continue furnishing a supply of this necessary fuel to the consuming public, the American Civic Alliance takes the liberty of suggesting to you the advisability of some precautionary steps in behalf of the consumers of your community. Hitherto in the discussion and settlement of this issue the public interest has been a forgotten factor, even though it actually is and always must be the paramount one.

As a practical step in self-protection, we suggest that you appoint a consumers' protective committee of five or more citizens, whose duty it shall be to consider the interests of the public as consumers of coal throughout this crisis, as not to meet possible emergency needs of your institutions, your industries and your homes, but also to be ready to give voice and effective force to the rights of the consuming public in the progress and conclusion of this dispute, so that the final terms of settlement no unjustifiable burden be placed upon the shoulders of consumers. We would welcome suggestions on your part for the benefit of others.

SURE SIGN.

The first ball game of the year was played Saturday afternoon on the west end diamonds between the Ragweed Wonders and the Never Sweats. After nine innings of fast ball the game was called, the score standing 4 to 4. The tie will be played off next Saturday. The batteries were as follows: Ragweeds: "Art" Hodgins and "Kinnie" Walker; Never Sweats: "Teddy" Yazel and "Hotty" Flutter.

FAILED TO DETER EASTER PARADERS

Inclement Day and Raw Winds Could Not Keep "Glad Rags" From Sprouting Forth.

EASTER IN THE CHURCHES

Appropriate Music and Sermons in Commemoration of Eastertide—Knights Templar in Uniform.

Easter Sunday offered a varied lot of weather, but it did not deter those who had planned to take place in the Easter parade, and it went on unmo- lested just as if the weather really were agreeable. New Easter hats and dresses, and other spring togs were sprung on the public. Most of them were to be seen at the churches of the city where special programs were carried out under very auspicious circumstances. The church services were all well attended even though the weather in the morning promised that Easter would be a very disagreeable day.

The annual Easter services of the Rushville Commandery, Knights Templar, were held at the Main Street Christian church Sunday morning. There were fifty-five Knights who marched to the church in full dress uniform. A special section in the center of the church was reserved for them.

The Rev. C. M. Yocum preached a very appropriate sermon on the topic, "What is Man?" The church rostrum was decorated very beautifully in Easter lilies and other greenery appropriate to the Eastertide. The only special music of the morning included an anthem, "Spirit Immortal," sung by the choir, under the direction of J. Walter Wilson.

The evening program was given over Sunday night to the Junior Endeavor Society. The main auditorium of the church was crowded to capacity, and many seats in the Sunday school room were taken up. The program was very much enjoyed.

At the St. Paul M. E. church a special Easter song service was rendered in the evening by the choir, and was very delightful and breathed of the spirit of the day which commemorates the rising of Christ from the dead. The song numbers, consisting of solos and choir anthems, were interspersed with short talks by the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Wylie, relative to the Eastertide.

The song recital, under the direction of Miss Martha Hogsett, at the Guild of the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening at six-thirty o'clock, was the best Easter song service of the day at this church. Miss Hogsett arranged a program that was especially appropriate, and collected together the best talent that is to be had in the city. Solos, both vocal and instrumental, were given by the Misses Lucy Posey, Jessie Kitchen, Isabelle Melcher, Norma Smith, Carrie Kitchen, and Mrs. Carl F. Behr. Miss Hogsett acted as accompanist for the vocalists.

The day was commemorated at the St. Mary's Catholic church with the usual services. Flowers were used profusely in decorating the church, and special music was rendered by the choir. Large crowds attended all the services of the day.

At the United Presbyterian church the Rev. Mr. Kyle of the Xenia Theological Seminary of Xenia, Ohio, preached both morning and evening in place of the Rev. A. W. Jamieson. Special Easter music was given at both services.

At the First Baptist church Easter was observed in the customary manner.

JERSEY MAN'S STORY

There is rugged, robust, New Jersey man, George W. Thompson, by name, living in Manasquan, who has an interesting life-story to relate.

"About two years ago," he said (in a recent letter) "my health broke down and I felt fagged out all the time, having very little strength and being nervous, with poor appetite.

"I think Vinol is the best spring medicine on the market today, for since taking it I can say that I feel like a new man. I have regained my strength, eat well, sleep like a log."

Right now is the time for you, if you are weak and run-down, can't eat or sleep, to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy.

No matter whether you are a feeble old person or young and sickly, if you are not as strong and vigorous as you ought to be, Vinol is for you and it will build you up. Take it on our guaranty of satisfaction and if it disappoints you we will give back your money. But if you need new strength begin taking Vinol now. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

EASY DESSERTS.

Custards, when eggs are reasonable, are one of the easiest and most wholesome of desserts and an ideal one for children who have to carry their lunches to school. They may be either baked or steamed in cups.

Rice Custard.—Take two cups of good rich milk, add a half cup of cold cooked rice. Beat the yolks of two eggs, add six tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt, add this to the rice mixture and cook like a soft custard. Take from the fire and add the beaten whites of the eggs and vanilla to flavor, serve cold in cups, with or without cream.

Floating Island.—Scald a pint of rich milk, add a half cup of granulated sugar and the beaten yolks of two eggs, cook until smooth, and when cool add a teaspoonful of vanilla. Cook the whites beaten stiff and sweetened with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, by dropping in spoonfuls on to boiling water. Arrange the islands on the custard and put a cube of jelly on each.

Prune Pie.—This is an exceptionally good pie. Wash one and a half pounds of prunes and soak over night in water to cover. Cook in the same water and remove the stones, cut prunes in quarters and add a half cup of sugar, a tablespoonful of lemon juice and a few grains of salt. Reduce the juice to one and a half tablespoonfuls. Line a pie plate with crust and dredge with flour, cover with the prunes, dot with butter, put on the upper crust and bake in a hot oven. Baked or boiled custard may be made more elaborate by the addition of coconut for flavor or chocolate, grated, may be added, if one cares for that combination.

GETTING READY TO START SOUTH

Mexican Rebels Lay Out an Aggressive Campaign.

EARLY FIGHTING IS EXPECTED

Movement of Orozco's Troops to the South Continues and the Next Important Engagement is Looked For in the Vicinity of Escalon or Perhaps, Further South—Federals Concentrating to Intercept Rebels.

Jimenez, Mexico, April 8.—Alfonso Castaneda is in command of the rebel army during the absence of the commander-in-chief, General Orozco, who has made a hurried trip to Chihuahua to consult with the civil officials of the Liberal movement before he starts south with his army against Torreón.

The movement of the Liberal troops at the south continues and it is believed that fighting will take place in the vicinity of Escalon or perhaps a little further south. The federals under Huerta are advancing from Torreón and the commands of Generals Tellez and Aubert are reported advancing north parallel with and west of the Mexican Central. The Liberals are moving in the same manner to the south, preparing to meet the commands separately and prevent Aubert and Tellez, who are marching from Mapimi, forming a junction with Huerta on the railroad.

ACTIVITIES RESUMED

Rebel Forces Confident of Ability to Control Affairs.

Parral, Chihuahua, April 8.—Eight hundred of the rebel command which assisted in taking this place from Pancho Villa's federals have returned to Jimenez, to join in the movement south against the federals now marching north from Torreón and who have arrived a short distance south of Escalon. Pancho Villa, it has been discovered, dispatched wagons and mules loaded with supplies from Parral before he gave up the town. These were sent to Zaragoza, this state, a point between Chihuahua and Jimenez, and would indicate that he intended to harass the rebels by attempting to cut their line of communication to the north. That they effectively have disposed of Villa's activities in this particular region the rebels no doubt believe, because they have ordered all their men except 200 to return to Jimenez for the campaign in the south.

General Salazar, who is in military charge here, has ordered the citizens of the place to meet and elect officials for the administration of justice and political affairs.

A SLOW COUNT

Illinois Primary Elections Present Some Complex Problems.

Chicago, April 8.—Illinois will hold presidential, state and county primaries tomorrow. The voters must settle the most involved combination of primary contests that ever have confronted them. Ballots will have the appearance of a Chinese puzzle. In Chicago Democratic ballots will be two feet six inches in length and twelve inches in width, while Republican ballots will be nineteen inches in length and fourteen inches wide. Within the city names of candidates are arranged on the ballots in four and five columns, but in the country towns of Cook county the ballots printed by the county clerk have a single column of names and are five feet in length. As much as eighteen hours may be required to count the ballots, which will mean that no complete returns will be available Tuesday night.

Former Trustee Accused.

Crawfordsville, Ind., April 8.—Suit has been filed in the Montgomery circuit court against Sam D. Symmes, former trustee of Union township, charging him with the misappropriation of $40,000 during his term of four years beginning 1905. The suit was filed upon information furnished by the state board of accounts.

Petres Taking No Chances.

Tacoma, Wash., April 8.—Three posesses of woodmen are seeking John Tornow, the outlaw supposed to have murdered six people about the headwaters of the Wynoochie river. Rewards offered by the authorities aggregate $5,000. Probably no effort will be made to capture Tornow alive.

Mr. Knox Visits Jamaica.

Guantanamo, Cuba, April 8.—Secretary of State Knox and party sailed from here Sunday afternoon for Kingston, Jamaica. They will cross the island by automobile to Port Antonio, whence they will sail for Havana, expecting to arrive at the Cuban capital on Thursday morning.

It Was a Mistrial.

Chicago, April 8.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Louise Vermilya, charged with murdering Richard T. Smith, a railroad man, was discharged after members of the jury informed the court that they could not agree upon a verdict. The jury had been out eight hours.

WATER COMPETITION
TO BE ENCOURAGED

More Trouble in Store for the Railroads.

Washington, April 8.—In the final report of the United States national waterways commission which was made public today important recommendations for legislation affecting the railroads of the country that own or are interested in steamship lines are contained. The commission recommends the congress that the power of the interstate commerce commission be extended so as to include control over all water lines. The commission recommended further that all water lines be made subject to the same rules and regulations as are now imposed on railroad companies insofar as they are applicable. The commission says the time has come to take steps to prevent the elimination of water competition through railroad ownership.

This report following on the heels of the Panama canal bill now pending in the house, which would compel the divorcing of the railroad and steamship business, indicates that there is trouble ahead for some of the railroad lines interested in extensive water business.

The commission believes that the protection afforded the waterways by the act to regulate interstate commerce is not sufficient for the preservation and the growth of water transportation. The lack of adequate regulation makes it possible for the railroads effectively to control or to crush out water competition through their ownership and control of boat lines.

The waterway commission concludes that additional legislation is demanded not only to prevent the elimination of water competition, but also to protect the public against the raising of water rates.

STOPPED THEM

Would-Be Grave Robbers Intercepted by Police at Wabash.

Wabash, Ind., April 8.—A bold attempt was made to exhume the body of the late John H. Dicken, a prominent politician of the Eleventh congressional district prior to his death, two months ago. Two days before his death he suffered a hard fall to which his death is attributed. At that time he carried an accident policy for $5,000 but payment was refused on the grounds that death was due to heart trouble. The work of the ghouls was stopped by the police and the cemetery superintendent was instructed to shoot the next person making an attempt to exhume the body.

Christianity in China.

London, April 8.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who was the provisional president of China, has written to a friend here rejoicing over the prospect of religious toleration in the new republic. "I am sure," he says, "that Christianity will flourish under the new regime."

Death of Crazy Snake.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 8.—"Crazy Snake," the Indian responsible for the last uprising in Oklahoma, is dead, according to a report received from Vinita. The Indian had always contended that his tribe was robbed of its land by the whites.

Pumps Not to Be Stopped.

Shamokin, Pa., April 8.—Owing to the high water in all the mines as the result of spring thaws, it is thought the union will not order pumpmen and firemen to desert their posts and put collieries in danger of being flooded.

Followed Daughter's Example.

Pittsboro, Ind., April 8.—Despondent because of ill health, Mrs. Mary Ann Hedge, seventy-five years old, hanged herself to a bedpost. Three years ago a daughter killed herself in a similar manner.

PLANS TO MAKE DEMONSTRATION

C. H. Baldwin, State Entomologist,
Plans to Aid Orchardists, by Showing Scientific Methods.

SELECTS FOUR ORCHARDS

In Each it Will be Attempted to Show

What Proper Care Will Accomplish.

C. H. Baldwin, state entomologist, has selected four orchards in different parts of Indiana as points to demonstrate what can be accomplished by proper care, pruning and spraying, toward producing large yields of healthy apples in Indiana.

One of the orchards is at the Indiana Boys' School at Plainfield, another is the Odd Fellows' orchard at Greensburg, the third is owned by Dr. Reeder, near Laporte, and the fourth is at Riverwood Farm, owned by William Holton Dye, in Hamilton county, on the Noblesville-Allisonville pike.

essens will be given to the farmers in the neighborhood of each orchard, on pruning, spraying for the scale, spraying for the codling moth, and gathering and packing in the fall.

"There is nothing of greater importance to the State of Indiana, in an agricultural way, than the proper care of orchards, which scientific demonstration in the last few years has shown can be made one of the commonwealth's most valuable assets," said Mr. Baldwin. "By proper methods of care, especially in pruning and spraying, it has been found that Indiana can raise just as good fruit as any state in the Union, and that the yield under proper conditions is especially phenomenal.

"The apple show last fall convinced everybody who attended that Indiana apples raised under scientific methods were as near perfect as they had ever seen."

While the state entomologist's crops of assistants is not large, he is using it to the best advantage in localities where there is the greatest need of education on fruit raising.

As a result of the campaign of education which has been started by the state entomologist, the State Horticultural Society and Purdue University, Indiana, it is asserted, is destined to add hundreds of thousands of dollars to its wealth within the next few years.

Orange county has planted more than 30,000 fruit trees during the last year. Lawrence county and Fayette county also are making good showings and most of the orchards are being cared for in a scientific way.

Opportunity.

They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fall to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door,
And bid you wake, and rise to fight and win.

Wait not for precious chances passed away,
Weep not for golden ages on the wane!
Each night I burn the records of the day,
At sunrise every soul is born again.

Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To vanished joys be blind and deaf and dumb;
My judgments seal the dead past with its dead,
But never bind a moment yet to come.

Though deep in mire wring not your hands and weep,
I lend my arm to all who say "I can!"
No shamefaced outcast ever sank so deep,
But yet might rise and be again a man!

Dost thou behold thy lost youth all aghast?
Dost reel from righteous retribution's blow?
Then turn from blotted archives of the past
And find the future's pages white as snow.

Art thou a mourner? Rouse thee from the spell;
Art thou a sinner? Sins may be forgiven;
Each morning gives thee wings to flee from hell,
Each night a star to guide thy feet to heaven!
—Walter Malone.

ALATION 2:15 1/4

Reg. No. 39041, by

THE GREAT ALLERTON 2:09 1/4, No. 5128.

ALATION 2:15 1/4, record made on half mile track, is a handsome, stoutly made yet finely finished sorrel horse. He has proven himself a fast and game race horse, as well as an undefeated show horse. Has proven himself to be a sire of early speed. A horse of fine disposition, possessing size, style and action, and is bred in the winning blood lines. Don't miss this opportunity of breeding to him.

TERMS—$30.00 to insure a Living Colt. Money to be paid when colt is foaled.

BAY DILLON 47382

By Sidney Dillon 2:15 1/4, Sire of Extreme Speed.

Is a Bay Horse coming 5 years old, sired by the World's Champion Sire, Sidney Dillon, sire of the Champion Trotter Lou Dillon 1:58 1/4; also the two-year-old Champion Pacer, Fleeta Dillon 2:08 1/4, and six others better than 2:10.

His dam, the great mare Ione Churchill, the dam of Czarina Dawson 2:09 1/4, and Walkill Wilkes 2:13 1/4, over half mile track—both trotters. And Bay Dillon has shown his ability to trot fast, for as a three-year-old he trotted a trial mile in 2:18, last half in 1:04. He is high class in every respect. You can't go wrong in breeding to a horse that possesses the blood lines, qualities and individuality that he has.

TERMS—$20.00 to insure a Living Colt. Money to be paid when colt is foaled.

The above Stallions will make the season of 1912 at my barn on East First Street (just east of Pinnell & Tompkins' Lumber Yard), Rushville, Ind., until May 1st, 1912. After that date will be at the Riverside Park.

Parties disposing of mares bred will be held responsible for service fee and same to be due when mare changes hands. Will not be responsible for accidents of any kind, but due care will be exercised to prevent same. Mares from a distance will be taken care of at reasonable terms.

Call and look these horses over. Correspondence solicited. Am also conducting a Public Training and Racing Stable. Parties having a horse they wished trained or raced, please call or write me. Best of reference furnished.

Terms reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

100,000 PAID ROAD OFFICIALS IN U.S.

New Year Book of American Association For Highway Improvement is Just Issued.

VALUABLE TO SUPERVISORS

Estimated Half of Population is Taking Interest in Road Improvement.

If all the paid road officials of the United States were to settle in one city they would provide a population equal to that of Albany, N. Y., Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., Bridgeport, Conn., or Cambridge, Mass. The cities mentioned are in the 100,000 population class under the last census, and the Year Book of the American Association for Highway Improvement, which is just about to be issued, shows that there are about 100,000 officials actually engaged in the supervision of public roads in the United States.

The immensity of the movement for improved roads in the United States is shown by the Year Book of the association, which has been compiled for the benefit of the various organizations and thousands of individuals who are affiliated with the American Association for Highway Improvement. The book will be invaluable to road officials, supplying for the first time complete data on the subject of road improvement. It includes a directory of associations dedicated to the road movement; all available information relating to appropriations by national, State and county governments; detailed information relating to bond issues, books, circulars, convict labor, culverts and bridges, contractors, material, dust preventatives, and everything of interest to automobilists.

road, builders, manufacturers, farmers and everybody directly or indirectly interested in the road movement.

The American Association for Highway Improvement which has compiled the book was organized by some of the most prominent men in the country, including Logan Waller Page, director of the office of public roads; W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway, and James S. Harlan, interstate commerce commissioner. Its purpose is to act as a clearing house for the road movement in America. President Taft is a member of the association. J. E.

Cascarets Insure Inside Cleanliness

Tre Millions of Cascaret Users Never Have Headache, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Stomach.

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Don't be surprised if you have an attack of rheumatism this spring. Just rub the affected parts freely with Chamberlain's Liniment and it will soon disappear. Sold by All Dealers.

Pennybacker, Jr., is the executive secretary, with headquarters in the Colorado building at Washington.

Nearly all the States now have organizations working with the American Association and it is estimated that one-half the population of the United States is now taking a direct interest in the improvement of the public roads. The practical interest that is being taken in the movement is shown by the fact that more than $4,000,000 a day is being spent on roads during the road building season. The expenditures in the various States for 1911, according to the year book, aggregated more than $150,000,000. Texas counties alone issued more than $8,000,000 in bonds for road improvement. The year book shows that there are eighty-one educational institutions giving instructions in highway engineering.

Fresh supply. Mrs. Austin's Bag Buckwheat now on hand at your grocers.

You will look a good while before you find a better medicine for coughs and colds than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only gives relief—it cures. Try it when you have a cough or cold, and you are certain to be pleased with the prompt cure which it will effect. For sale by All Dealers.

GUARD STATE'S FOOD SOURCES

Fraudulent Wares Kept Under Close Watch.

MANY DEALERS PROSECUTED

Upon Orders of H. E. Barnard, Pure Food and Drug Commissioner, Dealers Caught Disposing of Impure or Fraudulent Food or Drug Supplies Were Sent to Court, Nine Convictions Being Reported.

Indianapolis, April 8.—During the month of March fourteen places were condemned under the order of the pure food inspectors of the state board of health. The list included two bakeries, one confectionery, four dairies, one fish market, three groceries, two meat markets and one slaughter house.

One hundred and twenty-nine analyses of foods were made in March, of which eighty-six were found to be legal and forty-three illegal. Five out of seven temperance beers examined were illegal; four out of eleven samples of lemon extract; eight out of twenty-two samples of butter; eleven out of fifty samples of milk; three out of five syrups, and four out of five canned fruits were illegal.

One-half the preparations for the face were illegal. Eleven out of forty-two drug samples examined at the state food and drug laboratory were illegal. Besides the face creams the illegal drugs found consisted of two samples of witch hazel.

Ten dealers were prosecuted during March upon orders of H. E. Barnard, pure food and drug commissioner. Of these nine were fined $10 and costs in each case. Three of the prosecutions were in St. Joseph county, two in Marion county, two in Hamilton county, one in Laporte county and one each in Adams and DeKalb counties.

FLOOD VICTIM

Student at Purdue Braved High Water in a Canoe.

Lafayette, Ind., April 8.—Christopher Gates, Jr., a junior in the class of mechanical engineering at Purdue university, lost his life by drowning in the Wabash river.

With Maxwell Johnson of Lafayette, also a junior at Purdue, Gates went out in a canoe when the river was very rough. A big wave capsized the boat about 500 feet north of the Brown street bridge and both men were thrown into twenty-five feet of water. Both clung to the canoe for some time, but it would not support them. Johnson, who is an expert swimmer, succeeded in reaching the bank. Gates lost his hold on the canoe and went down.

DISREGARDED WARNING

Retired Muncie Merchant Drove Auto in Front of Approaching Train.

Muncie, Ind., April 8.—Alex Gowdy, a farm hand, was killed when an automobile in which he and C. B. Fudge, the latter a retired Muncie merchant, were riding, was struck by a cut of cars being moved by a Big Four switch engine. A flagman warned Fudge that a train was approaching, but the latter apparently thought he could clear the track and kept on going. When he saw that the train was going to hit the automobile, Fudge yelled to Gowdy and jumped from the car. Gowdy, however, was caught under the machine as it was rolled over several times and demolished and instantly killed.

FIRE DEPARTMENT MERGER PROPOSED

Four Cities Figuring On Auto Efficiency

South Bend, Ind., April 8.—The authorities of South Bend, Mishawaka, Elkhart and Goshen are working out a plan by which the fire departments of those cities can be merged in case of emergency.

The scheme originated in the mind of Mayor Chester of Elkhart. Its feasibility is not questioned. As part of the plan Chester proposes that boulevards of macadam be built to connect the four cities in order that fast time can be made by the fire engines in case they were summoned to one of the others.

The introduction of auto fire engines into the departments gave rise to the probability of Chester's plan being adopted by the northern Indiana cities. Over a macadam roadway, it is figured, the auto fire fighting machines could make the trips without loss of time.

WORK OF CORONERS

More Than 3,000 Cases Required Attention in State Last Year.

Indianapolis, April 8.—Eighty-three unclaimed bodies were buried by coroners in Indiana last year, according to statistics being compiled by Thos. W. Brolley, state statistician, for the forthcoming report from his office for the year 1910-11. The total number of coroner's inquests in the state was 3,015. Of those, 2,155 were white men, 662 were white women, 120 were colored men and 78 were colored women. The total number of homicides in the state for the year was 136. The total number of suicides in the state was 409. White men killed on steam railroads numbered 329, while only 24 white women met death from similar causes. White men numbering thirty-eight were killed by interurban roads and twenty-eight white men were killed by steam railways.

Parole For Kentucky Forger.

Frankfort, Ky., April 8.—The state board of prison commissioners has granted a parole to Charles E. Rochester, N. Y., April 8.—It is the opinion of a majority of the delegates on the ground that the state convention tomorrow will instruct the four delegates-at-large to vote for Mr. Taft's nomination.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Rushville People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow;

That dropsy Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Rushville citizen.

George Priest, 223 West Third St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I was bothered by attacks of kidney trouble for several years and as time passed my condition became worse. There was a dull pain directly over my kidneys and I had spells of dizziness and weakness. My sight often became blurred and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever taken and in a short time had relieved me. On several occasions during the past three years, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always given entire satisfaction."

Cow Mothers Orphan Colt.

Converse, Ind., April 8.—A cow owned by Dr. J. R. Reynolds has assumed the maternal care of an orphan colt which Dr. Reynolds had been feeding from a bottle since a day old. The colt was turned in a lot with the cow, which his since been nursing the colt, with the result that the use of the bottle has been discontinued.

Fined Under Own Ordinance.

Hammond, Ind., April 8.—Allen Salisbury, a Crown Point councilman, was hoisted with his own petard. He was instrumental in forcing through an ordinance prohibiting dumping rubbish in alleys, and was fined $10 and costs by Harold Wheeler, city judge, for throwing ashes in the alley back of his house.

He Left a Warning.

Lafayette, Ind., April 8.—James S. Hill, saloon keeper, committed suicide at his home by asphyxiation. He opened a gas jet and put the tube in his mouth. He left a note warning his wife "not to strike a match upstairs." When she returned home she found him dead.

John B. Connor, editor of the Indiana Farmer since 1874, is dead at Indianapolis, aged eighty years.

More Bills to Meet.

State House Democrats said in January they would not call on the counties for advance payments of taxes until June 1. They were mistaken. They now admit they must call in April, this month, for money with which to pay March and February bills. The April call for advance payments ahead of the regular June settlement is to be made because there is no money in the State treasury to meet the State's running expenses. Similar calls have been made three times before since the beginning of the fiscal year, 1912.

Ending the fiscal year 1911 by eating a $51,000 deficit hole in the income of the year 1912, the Democrats found it necessary to call for advance payments last October ahead of the December settlement, and they called again in November for all the money the counties could furnish. They had called before, in September, and obtained $153,000 of the State's 1912 income to patch the fag end of 1911.

The State House Democrats are bragging because they were able to stave off bill collections in March and February. It was only by delaying settlement of many legitimate bills made by offices, boards, institutions, etc., that the Democrats were enabled to go through March without calling for money with which to pay February bills. As it is they present the spectacle of an "economy" administration calling for help in April because of March bills and February neglect.

What with the bills laid over from the first half of the fiscal year, the Democrats are up against the real thing to meet the piled up expense now due and to be paid out of money raised this month by their advance call. It will be necessary to ask the counties to send in all the money on hand to the State's account. This will bring in something like $400,000 or $450,000. This will be licked up instantly, and there will be a new call in May for money with which to pay April expenses. Then will come May's bills to be paid in June and mighty little will be left in county treasuries to be sent in as the "June settlement." Of course the money raised for the June expenses is supposed to be used to pay the State's expenses in the six months thereafter. But if the money is not there; if the money is spent in advance, of course there must be another recourse to advance calls on the December settlement of 1912.

It cost the Democrats $391,000 in January to pay the State's bills. The average in 1911 was $385,000 a month. At this latter average, the Democrats must raise by advance calls between now and the June settlement, the neat sum of $1,155,000. That is how far short they are making ends meet at this time. Will they be able to get the money? How and where will they raise it? And if it is not to be had, where will the State House Democrats and their deficit land?

As to Farmers.

In a speech at St. Paul, Col. Roosevelt declared that his plans to better country life have not been carried out, and that in regard to conservation his policy was "completely reversed by the appointment of Mr. Ballinger and the dismissal of Gifford Pinchot." Not many farmers have given much thought to the personalities referred to, or take special interest in them now. They remember the colonel's utterances while president on the subject of improving life on the farms, but found in them nothing that was particularly new or impressive. The main point to be made in regard to farmers is that the Republican party has always been mindful of their interests and rejoices in their prosperity. During the administration of Mr. Lincoln slavery was ended on the farms of the South. A homestead law was passed that has benefited millions who have thus been enabled to make a good living on the soil, and gain a substantial competency.

American farmers, as a whole were never more prosperous than they are now, and land values were never better. A comparison of the fruits of their labor with the results of any former period disproves completely the charge that they have suffered in the least from the causes alleged by Roosevelt in his demagogical speeches in Minnesota. Farmers think for themselves; they are deliberate in forming opinions, and skeptical as to abstract theories of their business from those who have never been practically engaged in it. They correctly consider essays from such people as not as valuable as their own knowledge, based on hard work and actual experience.

Fifteen years ago the Republican party resumed control of all departments of the government, and retained it until last year. The party is not displaced yet except in one branch of congress. November will restore it to full authority, or divide the legislative and executive power, or give the Democratic party both houses of Congress and the presidency, an advantage it has not held in more than fifty years, save during two years of Cleveland's second term. Have farmers forgotten those years of deep depression in all business, and most trying of all in theirs? It is unlikely. They are raising crops exceeding $8,000,000,000 a year in value and not bothering about Pinchot, Ballinger or a third-term promise to better their affairs.

Mr. Roosevelt's Louisville speech was written with a pencil stub on a suit case in the New York station. He is acquiring the ways of a newspaper man, but he will not be thoroughly seasoned until he learns to do it in the top of his derby hat.

AMUSEMENTS

The Portola will have a complete change of program tonight. Thursday and Friday nights a benefit show for the D. A. R. will be given. On these two nights special programs will be given including pictures and music. Dwight VanOsdol will give a cornet solo Thursday night.

The Princess has a feature Indian picture tonight entitled "Indian Romeo and Juliet." It is far more Shakespearian than Shakespeare. It is a similar story with more picturesque principals and surroundings. The self-sacrifice of love it is said is never more beautifully and dramatically portrayed than in this picture. The other film is "Pathe Weekly No. 4." In this picture the eighteen million dollar fire in New York City is shown.

"His Fate's Rehearsal," a Majestic film to be shown at the Palace theater this evening, is a stirring drama, dealing with the effects of booze. Following two years of happily wedded life, a young husband suddenly comes into an immense inheritance, and gradually becomes a drunken sot because he is unable to with stand prosperity. The father of the wife, an influential physician, tries a number of plans to rid his son-in-law of the fearful habit to no avail. Finally he hits on a scheme, which is unique and which is entirely satisfactory. "A Duel of Candles," an American drama, deals with a romance on the western plains. A wealthy ranchman seeks the hand of a girl, and is opposed by a poor prospector. By cunning the ranchman wins the girl, but later his true character is brought to light. J. Walter Wilson will sing tonight. Next Friday evening the Palace will give a special Easter opening and flowers will be given to the women. A special program has been arranged.

"The Mikado" will be given at the Murat theater by the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of Murat Temple. Mrs. Spencer will sing the part of Yum-Yum. Mrs. Spencer has a prominent part in most of the amateur productions in Indianapolis.

CORONER HERE TODAY

Probably Will File Harris Verdict Within a Week.

Coroner A. G. Shauck of Arlington was in Rushville this afternoon. He refused to state how long it will be before the Harris verdict is filed, but it is likely that it will not be more than a week. The coroner says that he still has a few witnesses to examine yet. It is known that one farmer of the neighborhood of Ashland farm, where the tragedy occurred, was summoned to appear before the coroner this afternoon.

SMALL BLAZE.

The fire department was called to the Havens property in West Third street today shortly before noon. The sparks from a pile of burning trash set the barn on fire, but only small damage resulted. The blaze was extinguished before the department arrived.

Tanpah Tribe I. O. R. M. will have work in the second degree Tuesday night and the pow-wow committee will make their report. A full attendance is desired.

"What's your hurry, Jim?" continued Kirkby, calmly. "The gal's safe; one day more or less ain't goin' to make no difference."

"She's with another man," answered Armstrong quickly.

"Do you know this Newbold?" asked Maitland, looking at the note again.

"No, not personally, but I have heard of him."

"I know him," answered Kirkby quickly, "an' you've seed him too, Bob; he's the feller that shot his wife, that married Louise Rosser."

"That man!"

"The very same."

"You say you never saw him, Jim?" asked Maitland.

"I repeat I never met him," said Armstrong, flushing suddenly; "but I knew him wife."

"Yes, you did that—" drawled the old mountaineer.

"What do you mean?" flushed Armstrong.

"I mean that you knowed her, that's all," answered the old man with an innocent air that was almost childlike.

When the others woke up in the morning Armstrong's sleeping bag was empty. Kirkby crawled out of his own warm nest, opened the door and peered out into the storm.

"Well," he said, "I guess the damn fool has beat God this time. It don't look to me as if even He could save him now."

"What Do You Mean?" Flushed Armstrong.

"But we must go after him at once," urged Maitland.

Everybody in the mining camp had supposed that Newbold had wandered off and perished in the mountains, else Armstrong might have pursued him and hunted him down. The sight of his name on that piece of paper was outward and visible evidence that he still lived. It had almost the shock of a resurrection, and a resurrection to hatred rather than to love. If Newbold had been alone in the world, if Armstrong had chanced upon him in the solitude, he would have hated him just as he did, but when he thought that his ancient enemy was with the woman he now loved, with a growing intensity beside which his former resentment seemed weak and feeble he hated him yet the more.

He could not tell when the notice, which he had examined carefully, was written; there was no date upon it, but he could come to only one conclusion. Newbold must have found Enid Maitland alone in the mountains very shortly after her departure, and he had her with him in his cabin alone for at least a month. Armstrong gripped his teeth at the thought. He did not undervalue the personality of Newbold. He had never happened to see him, but he had heard enough about him to understand his qualities as a man. The tie that bound Armstrong to Enid Maitland was a strong one, but the tie by which he held her to him, if indeed he held her at all, was very tenuous and easily broken; perhaps it was broken already, and so he hated him still more and more.

Indeed, his animosity was so great and growing that for the moment he took no joy in the assurance of the girl's safety; yet he was not altogether an unfair man, and in calmer moments he thanked God in his own rough way that the woman he loved was alive and well, or had been when the note was written. He rejoiced that she had not been swept away with the flood or that she had not been lost in the mountains and forced to wander on finally to starve and freeze and die. In one moment her nearness caused his heart to throb with joyful anticipation. The certainty that at the first flush of day he should seek her again sent the warm blood to his cheeks. But those thoughts would be succeeded by the knowledge that she was with his enemy. Was this man to rob him of the latest love as he had robbed him of the first? Perhaps the hardest task that was ever laid upon Armstrong was to lie quietly in his sleeping bag and wait until the morning.

So soon as the first indication of dawn showed over the crack of the door, he slipped quietly out of his sleeping bag and without disturbing the others drew on his boots, put on his heavy fur coat and cap and gloves, slung his Winchester and his snow shoes over his shoulder, and without stopping for a bite to eat, softly opened the door, stepped out and closed it after him. It was quite dark in the bottom of the canon, although a few pale gleams overhead indicated the near approach of day. It was quite still, too. There were clouds on the mountain top heavy with threat of wind and snow.

The way was not difficult, the direction of it, that is. Nor was the going very difficult at first; the snow was frozen and the crust was strong enough to bear him. He did not need his snow shoes, and, indeed, would have had little chance to use them in the narrow, broken, rocky pass. He had slipped away from the others because he wanted to be first to see the man and the woman. He did not want any witnesses to that meeting. They would have come on later, of course; but he wanted an hour or two in private with Enid and Newbold without any interruption. His conscience was not clear. Nor could he settle upon a course of action.

How much Newbold knew of his former attempt to win away his wife, how much of what he knew he had told Enid Maitland, Armstrong could not surmise. Putting himself into Newbold's place and imagining that the engineer had possessed entire information, he decided that he must have told everything to Enid Maitland as soon as he had found out the quasi relation between her and Armstrong. And Armstrong did not believe the woman he loved could be in anybody's presence a month without telling something about him. Still, it was possible that Newbold knew nothing, and that he told nothing therefore.

The situation was paralyzing to a man of Armstrong's decided, determined temperament. He could not decide upon the line of conduct he should pursue. His course in this, the most critical emergency he had ever faced, must be determined by circumstances of which he felt with savage resentment he was in some measure the sport. He would have to leave to chance what ought to be subject to his will. Of only one thing he was sure—he would stop at nothing, murder, lying; nothing, to win the woman, and to settle his score with that man.

There was really only one thing he could do, and that was to press on up the canon. He had no idea how far it might be or how long a journey he would have to make before he reached that shelf on the high hill where stood that hut in which she dwelt. As the crow flies, it could not be a great distance, but the canon zigzagged through the mountains with as many curves and angles as a lightning flash. He plodded on, therefore, with furious haste, recklessly speeding over places where a misstep in the snow or a slip on the icy rocks would have meant death or disaster to him.

He had gone about an hour, and had perhaps made four miles from the camp when the storm burst upon him. It was now broad day, but the sky was filled with clouds and the air with driving snow. The wind whistled down the canon with terrific force. It was with difficulty that he made any headway at all against it. It was a local storm; if he could have looked through the snow he would have discovered calmness on the top of the peaks. It was one of those sudden squalls of wind and snow which rage with terrific force while they last, but whose rage was limited, and whose violent duration would be short.

A less determined man than he would have bowed to the inevitable and sought some shelter behind a rock until the fury of the tempest was spent, but there was no storm that blew that could stop this man so long as he had strength to drive against it. So he bent his head to the fierce blast and struggled on. There was something titanic and magnificent about this iron determination and persistence of Armstrong. The two most powerful passions which move humanity were at his service; love led him and hate drove him. And the two were so intermingled that it was difficult to say which predominated, now one and now the other. The resultant of the two forces, however, was an onward move that would not be denied.

His fur coat was soon covered with snow and ice, the sharp needles of the storm cut his face wherever it was exposed. The wind forced its way through his garments and chilled him to the bone. He had eaten nothing since the night before, and his vitality was not at its flood, but he pressed on, and there was something grand in his indomitable progress. Excellent!

Back in the hut Kirkby and Maitland sat around the fire waiting most impatiently for the wind to blow itself out and for that snow to stop falling through which Armstrong struggled forward. As he followed the windings of the canon, not daring to ascend to the summit on either wall and seek short cuts across the range, he was sensible that he was constantly rising. There were many indications to his experienced mind; the decrease in the height of the surrounding pines, the increasing rarity of the icy air, the growing difficulty in breathing under the sustained exertion he was making, the quick throbbing of his accelerated heart, all told him he was approaching his journey's end.

He judged that he must now be drawing near the source of the stream, and that he would presently come upon the shelter. He had no means of ascertaining the time. He would not have dared to unbutton his coat to glance at his watch, and it is difficult to measure the flying minutes in such scenes as those through which he passed, but he thought he must have gone at least seven miles in perhaps three hours, which he fancied had elapsed, his progress in the last two having been frightfully slow. Every foot of advance he had had to fight for.

Suddenly a quick turn in the canon, a passage through a narrow entrance between lofty cliffs, and he found himself in a pocket or a circular amphitheater which he could see was closed on the farther side. The bottom of this enclosure or valley was covered with pines, now drooping under tremendous burdens of snow. In the midst of the pines a lakelet was frozen solid; the ice was covered with the same dazzling carpet of white.

He could have seen nothing of this had not the sudden storm now stopped as precipitately almost as it had begun. Indeed, accustomed to the grayness of the snow fall, his eyes were fairly dazzled by the bright light of the sun, now quite high over the range, which struck him full in the face.

He stopped, panting, exhausted, and leaned against the rocky wall of the canon's mouth which here rose sheer over his head. This certainly was the end of the trail, the lake was the source of the frozen rivulet along whose rocky and torn banks he had tramped since dawn. Here, if anywhere, he would find the object of his quest.

Refreshed by a brief pause, and encouraged by the sudden stilling of the storm, he stepped out of the canon and ascended a little knoll whence he had a full view of the pocket over the tops of the pines. Shading his eyes from the light with his hand as best he could, he slowly swept the circumference with his eager glance, seeing nothing until his eye fell upon a huge broken trail of rocks projecting from the snow, indicating the ascent to a broad shelf of the mountains across the lake to the right. Following this he saw a huge block of snow which suggested dimly the outlines of a hut!

Was that the place? Was she there? He stared fascinated and as he did so a thin curl of smoke rose above the snow heap and wavered up in the cold, quiet air! That was a human habitation, then. It could be none other than the hut referred to in the note. Enid Maitland must be there; and Newbold!

NEW FLOOD IS ON WAY DOWN RIVER

The Upper Mississippi Again
Is Rising.

NO EARLY RELIEF IN SIGHT

Additional High Water Is Expected to Reach Cairo and Memphis the Latter Part of the Week—Reports From Evansville Are That the Ohio Still Is Rising—The Crest of the Flood
Expected to Reach Paducah Today.

St. Louis, April 8.—The stage of the river here shows a slight fall since Saturday and at this point the flood situation shows some improvement, but the upper Mississippi river is rising again and the crest of the Ohio river flood is above Evansville. There is no important change in the conditions at Cairo and Memphis,
the two most critical points in the flooded territory in the Mississippi valley. Although there were no further breaks in the levees at Cairo, the conditions there still are serious, the town being completely surrounded by the overflow waters and virtually an island. While apparently there is a temporary respite for the two cities named, there seems to be prospect of further serious encroachments by the flood waters.
The river at Quincy shows a rise of two-tenths of a foot in the past twenty-four hours and the Mississippi above Quincy is rising. This additional high water will reach Cairo and
Memphis the latter part of the week.
Reports from Evansville are that the Ohio still is rising.

A severe wind storm which swept the lower Ohio valley Sunday and a heavy rain added to the danger menacing flood points below this city. Conditions along the Wabash and White rivers are hourly growing worse.

New Madrid, Mo., reports a fall of about five inches and no new dangers menacing. The work of relief there is progressing.

Advices from Memphis report a telephone message from Helena, Ark.,
that the Mississippi levee at Modoc,
thirty miles below Helena, has collapsed. Helena reports that the levee has broken in three places within a radius of sixty miles south of there on the Arkansas side of the Mississippi, flooding thousands of acres of farming land.

The crest of the flood in the Ohio valley, it is expected, will reach Paducah today. The river stage there is now 49.9 feet, the highest in fifteen years.

STOLE HIS PAPERS

Woodrow Wilson Victim of Designing Trieves at Chicago.

Chicago, April 8.—Burglars with undeniable political affiliations raided the rooms of Governor Woodrow Wilson in the Sherman House and stole all his private correspondence, vouchers and other documents. Two men did the work, which was carefully planned. They escaped in a taxicab, being driven to the Union station, but it is thought that this was a blind and that they are still in the city, having delivered the stolen documents to their employer.

Governor Wilson said he regretted the loss of letters, which were strictly personal, but predicted that the thieves and their employer would be disappointed, as there was nothing that could be published with injury to his cause.

A large force of detectives was put on the case. They have good descriptions of the thieves. Considerable valuable silver and other property in Governor Wilson's rooms was not touched. The governor's dress suit and extra underclothing were included in the plunder.

Mine Leaders Go to Conference.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 8.—The district miners' leaders will leave here tomorrow for the conference in Philadelphia and will meet National President White there the same day. The mine leaders will leave here with the determination to accept nothing but

AVIATION CIRCUIT RACE IS PROPOSED

Great Contest to Be Waged in Central States.

New York, April 8.—A great American aviation circuit is being organized by the Aero Club of America with the co-operation of the Aero clubs of Illinois, Michigan, Milwaukee, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis and Cincinnati, following the precedent set in Europe last year. The distance of the proposed circuit is 1,810 miles and the starting and finishing points will be at Chicago. It is planned to have the race during the month of August, preceding the international cup race, the date of which is Sept. 9.
This, it was thought, would induce the foreign contestants who are coming over for the championship event to take part in both races. These are the only two events in which the Wright brothers have agreed not to interfere on account of patent rights.

The route proposed is Chicago, Milwaukee, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Omaha, St. Joseph, Kansas City, Jefferson City, St. Louis, Charleston, Ill.,
Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus,
Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit and Chicago. Stops will be made at each city where there will be a "control" or station, and possibly at other cities situated along this route. The circuit is open to all licensed pilots of all nationalities, who will be free from injunction under the Wrights' patents.
It is thought the race will attract at least twenty participants.

Death Interfered.

Baltimore, Md., April 8.—Just as he

Buy Your Buggy From the Man Who Looks After the Small Details That Are So Essential In the Construction of a COMPLETE BUGGY.

Most dealers when placing the specifications for their buggies, leave off many of the things that are needed on a vehicle to make it wear and look well, and by doing this save quite a little in the cost of the vehicle increase their profit. Our orders to the manufacturers of our vehicles is to place everything on them that will make them better. By doing this we intend to give you a vehicle that will give you such satisfaction you will tell your friends and by your statement get them to place their business with us. To do this we must give you a vehicle that will give you satisfactory service, and don't forget that we do this and guarantee you the service you pay for and see that you get it. We want your business and we are ready to take care of it.

APPROPRIATION NOT BIG ENOUGH

County Council Will be Called This Month to Appropriate More Funds For Registration.

FIRST ONE WILL BE HELD MAY 9

Authorities Disagree Whether or Not Voter Should Register Three Times—Cost to Rush.

The first practical use of the new registration law is near at hand. The first registration of voters in Rush county will be held Thursday May 9. This is 180 days before election. The second will be Friday September 12, and the third and last will be Monday, October 7.

Authorities disagree as to the intent and meaning of the law. Many lawyers contend that the registration law is so constructed that it contemplates voters shall register on all three dates. Others argue that certainly the intent of the law was that a voter might register on any one of the three dates. At the same time they admit the phraseology of the statute is very misleading and might leave the impression that it is necessary to register all three times. This is considered the safest plan for a voter who really wants to cast his ballot—to register each time.

The registration law is one of the most costly ones ever written on the statute books of Indiana. The county council has already made an appropriation to defray the expenses of the three registrations, but it has already been shown that this appropriation is not near large enough. The county council will be called together in special session some time this month to make up the deficiency in the appropriation. Other deficiency appropriations will likely be made at this time.

The supplies for the first registration have arrived at the county auditor's office. The blanks for foreign and native born are of different colors, but the blanks are very simple and easy to fill out. The clerks will have the biggest job, as their records are intricate, and it will keep them busy to make them up. The inspectors were named by the commissioners last week and the clerks will be named by the county chairmen of the Democratic and Republican parties.

But what of the cost? Each one of two clerks in each precinct, and each precinct inspector, are entitled to four dollars a day—that is, if they serve only one day at each registration. The law is so written that it is possible for an inspector to sit three days at each registration if the proper petitions are presented.

If an inspector works but one day, the cost in each precinct will be twelve dollars. If he works as long as the law allows, the cost in each precinct will be twenty dollars. There are thirty-one precincts in the county. Thus the maximum cost will be $1,820 and the minimum, $1,092. This does not include room rent and board for the election officers.

Altogether it can be seen that the cost of the registration law for the taxpayers of Rush county will be a large sum. In such counties as this there are few illegal votes cast as most of the voters are well known. In cities in the congested sections and tenement house districts the law may be useful.

Still a Modern Woodman

Several members, during the past few days having told me that certain Old-line agents had informed them that I was going to quit the Modern Woodmen and had contracted with a certain Old-line company to act as their agent here, I wish to say that such statements are absolutely false and that if ever I should quit the Woodmen I will not select any Old-line agent to inform the members of that fact. I intend to carry my insurance in the Woodmen, under the new rates because I sincerely believe that it is cheaper than any Old-line company can furnish and is just as safe.

CITY'S BEHIND ON PARK QUESTION

Rushville Will Have to Stir to Keep Pace With Other Cities in This Regard.

MANY LAY PLANS FOR PARKS

Connersville and Greensburg Both
Will Spend Large Sums of Money.

Rushville is behind on the park question. There is no denial which can be offered to that assertion. It was said by a man on the streets this morning. There are many other men who would appreciate the local situation in this regard, and who are agreed that Rushville will have to be up and stirring if it keeps pace with other cities of its size in this section of the State, or in other parts of Indiana.

Connersville has a park, Newcastle has a park, Shelbyville has a park, and although Greensburg has no city park it is planning to spend from three to five thousand dollars in beautifying the court house yard there.

Greensburg has the advantage of Rushville in that it has a full square of ground in the court house yard, while Rushville has only a half block wide and a block long of ground. But Greensburg intends to make its court house yard a spot which will be admired.

Sandusky & Walker of Cincinnati, who was here a few days ago, are after the contract to beautify Greensburg's court house yard. The Decatur county council has appropriated three thousand dollars to be expended on the yard, and has given the landscape gardeners a leeway of fifteen hundred dollars more if they find they can not carry out their plans in the three thousand dollar limit.

Mr. Walker of the Cincinnati firm was here between trains while on his way from Greensburg to Connersville. He was shown about the city by men interested in the city's welfare. He was delighted with the city park and said that it afforded a background for what could be made one of the most beautiful parks in the State of Indiana for a small sum of money. Dr. Parsons, chairman of the park committee, presented the facts to the city council, and that body placed his report on file, from whence it will not likely emerge until it is yellow with age and covered with dust.

But what is Connersville doing? The eastern city has been harping on the park question for years. A park site was donated to the city and now the city is going about to beautify it with the intention of making it useful and beneficial to people of all classes.

THREE GRADUATES.

The Rev. W. W. McCall of Springhill preached the baccalaureate sermon for the Clarksburg high school graduates at the Methodist church at that place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Out of a class of fourteen or fifteen only three remained in high school to graduate. They are Bessie Fee, Ruth Walters, and Mabel Deiwert.
